Governor Yates's tour of the State, and so har they have not been taken up. it is believed by them now, however, that Governor Yates will not refuse to accept this list challenge, and that the joint debate will be held.

When the proposed challenge to a joint debate was talked of among the politicians it created much interest. East Side politicians, who are not directly interested in the Republican fight, sincerely hope that it will be arranged, and they say that it will be worth hearing. The local situation seemed unchanged yesterday. The anti-Yates people assert in possitive terms that they have an organization has been built up by Postmaster Bader, W. E. Trautman and several of their close friends during the last six months with the intention of controlling the East St. Louis situation are decidedly optimistic as to the unicome. HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS AND - OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or officinal names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—" Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company-California Fig Syrup Co .- printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

Ministers Decide to Memorialize General Conference Which Meets in May to Stand by Old Customs.

Though a great number of the ministers of the M. E. Church are inclined to per-mit the members of the church to follow their own views regarding a social game of cards, dancing and other so-called worldly amusements, at the meeting yesterday the report drafted by the committee, the Reverends M. L. Curl, F. W. Luce and N. Luccock, advising that the "hon ored traditions of our church be main-tained," was unanimously adopted.

This will be made part of a memorial for the consideration of the General Assembly, which meets next May. At the same time the committee advised the consolidation of the publishing interests of the church, and also of the various benevolences.

The plan suggested by the Reverend F.
W. Luce for the support of conference

It was claimed that the price was established by manipulation. Evidence against this contention was offered that the condition of the market was caused partly by shortage of the wheat crop. It was also maintained that war news had an effect upon the market.

The Thyson, Buschman and Orthwein suits were dismissed. The Albers cases were allowed to stand for trial upon their merits, as the Court was asked to cancel the contracts in these cases. Judge Wood said, however, that the company was entitled to that relief.

It is said that settlement of other similar deals, involving hundreds of thousands of dollars which were put up as security for margins, has been delayed, awaiting a decision in the cases.

Girls' Dress, With Fancy Bertha, No. 5212-Ecru voile is used for this stylish dress, with biscult velvet and cream-colored lace for trimming.

The waist is made over a fitted body thing that closes in the center back and is faced with velvet to a round yoke depth. Three backward-turning plaits extend from yoke to belt, back and front, forming broad triple box plaits.

9212-GIRLS' DRESS WITH FANCT BERTHA.

6, 8, 10 and 12 years.

The full body portion is applied to out-line the yoke, which is completed with a narrow lace collar band. The lace bertha has long tabs back and front. It extends over the shoulders in a becoming man-ner. Large lace motifs decorate the velover the shoulders in a becoming manner. Large lace motifs decorate the velvet yoke.

Full puff sleeves are tucked at the top and attached to the lower edge of short-fitted caps of velvet. The tucks are stitched down a short distance, the full-ness below forming wide puffs that are gathered and attached to lace wristbands. Plaits in the skirt are stitched faily to the depth of a yoke. They are pressed to the hem, but flare smartly below the stitching, retaining their plaited folds. The skirt is attached to the lower edge of the waist portion and closes in the back. A narrow velvet beit conceals the joining and fastens in from with a gold buckle.

Dresses in this style may be made of buckle.

Dresses in this style may be made of ladies? cloth, cashmere, serge, finnnel or veiling, with ribbon, braid, si k or tucked chiffon for trimming. If contrasting material is not used the yoke and bertha may be prettily braided.

To make the dress for a girl of 8 years will require two and three-quarter yards of material 36 inches wide, with one yard of lace and one-half yard of veivet. The pattern, No. 9212, is cut in sizes for girls of 6, 8, 10 and 12 years.

Giris' Coat, No. 9219—Bright red is al-ways a popular color with children, and ranks second in the colors selected for lit-tic folks, blue being the first choice. An attractive coat is shown here devel-oped in red popilin with bands of Persian embroidery for trimming. The adjustment is made with shoulder and under-arm seams only. The garment fits well on the shoulders and hands loosely in box effect to the hem.

9219-GIRL'S COAT.

6, 8, 10 and 12 years. The closing is made at the center front with black silk frogs that give a military touch to the coat. A fancy collar completes the neck and fastens in front under a pointed end. The shoulder trimming is applied at a square yoke depth. It has box plaits at the arm's-syss back and front, also one in the center back. These plaits are flatly pressed, but supply additional fullness giving the effect of a plaited cape. The upper and lower edges are finished with bands of embroidery.

One-piece sleeves fit the arm well from shoulder to elbow. They are wide at the lower edge, where the fullness is arranged on wristbands that are shaped to match on wristbands that are snaped to match the collar.

Garments in this mode are developed in serge, Henrietta, venetian, covert or la-dies' cloth, and trimmed with kee, vel-vet, silk or fancy braid. Some are fas-tened with huge gilt buttons, and oth-ers have the square yoke elaborately braided.

braided. To make the coat in the medium elze will require two and one-quarter yards of material 54 inches wide. The pattern, No. 9219, is cut in sizes for girls of $, $, 10 and 12 years.
